Dear Denny,

Thank you for your interest in Case Western Reserve University. The admission committee has completed our review of 2023 Early Action candidates and has decided to defer a decision on your application.

If you wish to remain a candidate for admission to Case Western Reserve, you may choose to either pursue admission through the binding Early Decision II application plan or non-binding Regular Decision application plan.

If you know Case Western Reserve is your first-choice university, you can choose to be considered for Early Decision II admission. As an Early Decision II applicant, you will be considered in this context: Students who have Case Western Reserve as their first choice are valued for the particular enthusiasm and commitment they bring to our community. We begin notifying ED II applicants on Jan. 8 and continue to do so within two weeks of receiving a completed application. Early Decision II applicants are typically either admitted or denied admission, rather than being deferred or offered a place on the wait list.

You can choose Regular Decision admission and receive an admission decision around March 27. As a Regular Decision candidate, you may at that time be admitted, denied or offered a place on the wait list.

Students who are admitted under either of these decision plans remain eligible for financial aid and merit scholarships. We meet 100% of demonstrated financial need for all admitted students, regardless of their admission plan.

We ask that you complete this form <<https://go.case.edu/register/applicationupdate>> to let us know the application plan under which you would like to be considered. You can also provide an update with information that has become available since your application was submitted. We will require seventh semester or first trimester grades for either decision plan. Early Decision II candidates also need to provide an Early Decision Agreement <<https://case.edu/admission/sites/case.edu.admission/files/2017-11/ED%20Agreement.pdf>>, signed by you, your counselor, and a parent or guardian. This form should be completed and sent to us by Jan. 22.

Thank you for your continued interest in Case Western Reserve University. If you have additional questions about the status of your application, I encourage you to review the FAQ in your portal and be in touch with me at 216.368.4450 or admission@case.edu.

Sincerely,

Robert R. McCullough
